INTRODUCTION TO THE LITURGY OF THE SUNDAY

*Daniel 7:13-14 * Revelation 1:5-8 * John 18:33b-37*

Christ's dominion is eternal. Today's solemnity, by which we close the liturgical year, reminds us that Christ is king and ruler of all. He is the firstborn of the dead in whom all power and authority has been invested. By our baptism we share in that holy and royal identity so that we might witness to his glory and kingship before the world. • Daniel has a vision of one like a son of man coming with the clouds of heaven, receiving dominion and kingship over all creation. In the second reading, John writes of Jesus Christ as the faithful witness who is coming with the clouds. In the Gospel, Pilate asks Jesus if he is the King of the Jews, and Jesus responds, my kingdom is not from this world.

SUNDAY REFLECTION

Christ's kingdom does not belong to this world but we belong to him. Royal titles seem outdated in our modern society as they tend to conflict with our democratic ideals – and yet today the Church celebrates the kingship of Christ. More specifically, today is the Solemnity of Our Lord Jesus Christ, King of the Universe. Claiming to be a king was considered a threat to the imperial power of Rome and punishable by death. And yet, in his exchange with Pilate in today's Gospel, Jesus not only acknowledges and embraces his kingly identity, but also the inevitable death that lies before him. So we have to ask, What does this feast day point to when we proclaim Christ as King, yet in fact he humbled himself to become one of us, and be put to death on a cross? • Each time we say the "Our Father," we not only invoke the kingdom but pray for its coming and fulfillment. These are not just mere words; they have meaning – both in that we are praying for something very specific, and in that Jesus gave us the very words to use. By our words and by our deeds, we have the power – with the help of the Holy Spirit – to proclaim Christ's kingship to the world and to build a holy people.
